Dear Witch,

My name is Abraham Wallis, and I live in the village of Saxony. I am writing to strongly encourage you to release my dear, dear friends, Hansel and Gretel that you currently hold captive in your delicious gingerbread house. Will you please put an end to our misery?

As you are aware, our village has had their hearts ripped out at the devastating news of Hansel and Gretel's abduction. Their bright smiles and innocent laughter no longer fill the village. Only you can restore our community.

As well as this, we have no doubt that you are aware of the consequences of your actions. The local police have been informed of the current situation and are on standby should the situation deteriorate. Therefore, you must release the children unharmed.

We are sure that your kind, gentle heart will ensure that you do the right thing. The village of Saxony will be greatly appreciative of this generous act of kindness.

We really do hope that you can find it in your heart to release these vulnerable children back to their parents.

Greatest thanks,

Abraham Wallis
